Jackson's Slugging Keeps Nationals on the Toboggan

Nationals Skid Into Another Defeat at Hands of White Sox-Boehling and Ayers Hit Hard by the Windy City Club.

Jackson, as he slammed the ball twice to Milan's left and when Clyde switched over he shot it out of Zeb's reach in right field.

Scott was unusually wild, but the Na-tionals could do very little against him. Early in the game two of Griff's young men reached first through the base knock route, but when the hit-and-rur sign went amiss both were snuffed out sign went amiss both were snuffed out at second by Schalk's unerring pegs. Washington's best chance to score came in the second inning. Jamieson drew a base on balls and pulled up on second when Shanks sacrificed. Henry also walked but McBride and Boehling, the following batters, could offer no help. Jamieson singled with one down in the fourth, but died on first base, while Shanks and Henry were retired in turn.

Chicago. June 11.—"Those skidding enators." the Windy City scribes have ubbed the Nationals.

A triple by Ness in the Sox fourth, followed by Jackson's double, produced a run. Weaver singled to open Chicago's sixth and Eddie Collins sacrificed. Ness sixth and Eddie Collins sacrificed. Ness skidding is right, for the Griffmen skidded into another defeat here this afternoon. The count was 5 to 0 in favor of the White Sox, indicating that the Rowland crowd did a good job while they were at it.

Washington's fielding was clean-cut today, but the weak tissue paper attack wouldn't have landed a victory in a trolley league. Of Scott and Russell but four scattered hits were gathered.

save the homefolds another marker which four scattered hits were gathered. The Sox drove Boehiling out of the box in the eixth and bumped Ayres, the relief hurler, hard during the remaining chapters.

Joe Jackson did the slugging for the victors with three ringing doubles out of four times up. None of our outfielders seemed to know where to play for Jackson as he slammed the hall twice.

Washington team fielded in bank-up style, but with the bat they were nix, and until a little swat music is heard of four times up. None of our outfielders seemed to know where to play for as the days go by. Score:

This warning is issued to the Nationals' funmakers coincident with the announce-ment that Roe Fulkerson is going to "spring something new" at the game to be played for the benefit of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home.

while only a few of Fulkerson's intimate associates are in on the secret, and none of them will divulge the nature of the "surprise," they will go far enough to say that "it will be a scream."

Fulkerson, who is past master of the Shrine and of a lot of other things, has a reputation to sustain as a purveyor of original ideas of humor, and if he misses the mark this time, he will be settling a precedent for falling down on

INSURANCE POLICY ISSUED ON BATTLE

New York. June 11.—An insurance policy for $100,000 will be written this week on the Moran-Dillon contest. The Washington Park Sports Club have placed the policy with Lloyds. The policy is being written to cover the club against rain on June 29, the date of the contest. This is the larkest policy ever written on a sporting event, and will insure the club against any loss in the event of rain.

LUDWIG RESS SHOULD MAKE TURNER HUSTLE

Polish Champion Made Great Impression in New York City Tournament. Finished Match Tuesday.

Cyclone Ludwig Ress, the Polish champion light-lieavy-weight, will make his initial appearance here Tuesday night when he meets Joe Turner, the champion middle-weight of the world, at the Lyceum Theater in a finished match. Although a light-heavy-weight tournament and gave a good account of himself, winning fourteen matches before he was finally eliminated, losing to Dr. Roller, the sensational heavy-weight. Ress has been in this country since the besinning of the European war, and has become fully versed in the catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling, and from all accounts Joe will have to hustle against the Polish wonder.

Since leaving home the Nationals have lost nine games, won but one and tied only a few points behind the league leaders. The St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers have both spurted, and the American League race is getting to be the lightest kind of an affair. Joe Turner has insisted that the toe hold and all other holds in catch-assection catch-can wrestling be allowed, the strangle hold being the only one barred. This means that the match will be fast from the start, as Joe is going at top speed at the present time.

Letics are not so far behind but that they can get on the band wagon by uncorking a winning streak.

It seems a shame that the Griffmen should have hit such a slump, for during the past two weeks a great opportunity was missed to jump into the lead and stay there.
